

I, Surgeon General of the United States Public Health Service, VADM Jerome Adams, am emphasizing the importance of the overdose-reversing drug naloxone. For patients currently taking high doses of opioids as prescribed for pain, individuals misusing prescription opioids, individuals using illicit opioids such as heroin or fentanyl, health care practitioners, family and friends of people who have an opioid use disorder, and community members who come into contact with people at risk for opioid overdose, knowing how to use naloxone and keeping it within reach can save a life.

BE PREPARED. GET NALOXONE. SAVE A LIFE.

OPIOID OVERDOSE PREVENTION

HELP SAVE A LIFE!

FREE training and FREE Narcan® Nasal Spray Kits for the first 30 participants on a "first-come, first-served" basis.

Training is open to anyone at risk for a heroin or opioid overdose or their family or friends, or other members of the community who are interested.

Education will be provided on how to administer Narcan® (Naloxone) to reverse a heroin or opioid overdose and rescue breathing.

Registration is not required but kits are only available to the first 30 participants.
