Basis for Intervening:

Pursuant to Rule 214 of the Rules of Practice and Procedure of the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (Commission), 18 C.F.R. § 385.214, Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Company, LLC (Transco) submits its Motion to Intervene Out-of-Time in this docket.

Transco is a limited liability company formed and existing under the laws of the State of Delaware, with its principal place of business in Houston, Texas. Transco is a natural gas company engaged in the transportation of natural gas in interstate commerce by means of its natural gas transmission system extending from Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, and the offshore Gulf of Mexico area through the States of Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey to its termini in the New York City Metropolitan area.

On September 24, 2015, PennEast Pipeline Company, LLC ("PennEast") filed an application for certificates of public convenience and necessity and related authorizations for the proposed PennEast Project ("Project") in Docket No. CP15-558-000.

PennEast proposes for the Project to include receipt point interconnections with Transco, among others, in the eastern Marcellus region and to terminate at a delivery point with Transco in Mercer County, New Jersey. Therefore, Transco has a direct, immediate and substantial interest in the instant proceeding, which interest will not be adequately represented by any other party to this proceeding. Unless permitted to intervene and participate fully, Transco may be bound and adversely affected by the Commission's action herein. Transco recognizes that its intervention is being submitted after the date for comments specified in the Commission's October 8, 2015 notice. However, as an affected landowner, and given the need to work with PennEast regarding mutually agreeable pipeline interconnections related to the Project, Transco only recently made the decision to participate in this proceeding on a more formal basis as a party to protect its interests. Further, Transco accepts the record in this proceeding as it has been developed prior to this intervention. Transco's intervention will not disrupt this proceeding, and will not prejudice, or impose any additional burdens on the existing parties. Accordingly, good cause exists under Rule 214(d) of the Commission's Rules to permit Transco's intervention.
